Cookie Statement

Description

[vc_row][vc_column][vc_column_text]Cookies are small alphanumeric data files, which are stored locally on your device (computer/mobile/tablet) when you visit certain websites. This website operates a web analytics service provided by Google, Inc, which utilises four main cookie functions:_utma,_utmb,_utmc and _utmz.

_utma: Initially, as each unique browser visits our website, they are provided with an individual ID which is then retained for future visits. This allows the userâ€™s progress and visits to be recorded. However, if a different user were to visit this website sharing the same browser and computer account, only one unique visitor ID will be recorded.

_utmb & _utmc: This establishes and records a user session on each page of the site.

_utmz: Records the referral location of the website- (whether you found our website by following a link or you visited us directly).

We are able to track a users movements on our site, and patterns in user interest allowing us to improve our functionality and user experience.

Reminder: You do not have to have cookies activated on your web browser to view this website.[/vc_column_text][/vc_column][/vc_row]

Date Created
12th April 2017
Author